

Loki – German Shepherd (Working Line)

Breed: Purebred Working Line German Shepherd

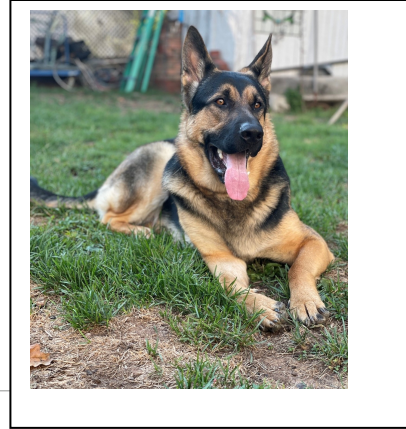

Date of Birth: May 12, 2021

Age: 4 years

Sex: Male

Weight: ~120 lbs

Energy Level: Moderate

Temperament & Personality

Loki is an exceptionally intelligent, loyal, and driven working-line German Shepherd. He is deeply affectionate with his people and bonds intensely once trust is established. He thrives on connection and inclusion—whether that’s hiking, training, playing, or simply following you from room to room. He is happiest when he has a purpose and someone to please.

Despite his size, Loki is a true “lap dog at heart” and seeks affection constantly, especially belly rubs and physical closeness. Once bonded, his loyalty is unconditional.

Loki is naturally protective and highly observant. He is always assessing his environment and looks to his handler for guidance. He is not aggressive, but he does require respectful introductions and clear boundaries with new people.

Training & Obedience

- ❖ Completed 6-week board and train obedience program at B.A.R.K Institute NJ in 2026
- ❖ Crate trained — enters calmly and waits for release
- ❖ Strong door manners — sits and waits before exiting
- ❖ Obedience commands: sit, down, place, stay, come (recall)
- ❖ Understands release cues (“ok” / “free”)
- ❖ Loose leash walking — stays at handler’s side
- ❖ Place command — settles calmly on a bed or designated area
- ❖ Recall trained — comes when called and sits
- ❖ Can build duration, distance, and focus with continued training

Loki is highly intelligent, extremely responsive, and eager to learn.

Known Commands:

- Sit
- Down
- Place
- Ok/Free
- Stay
- Wait
- Come
- Leave it
- Outside
- Inside
- Open door
- In addition, understands many English words and phrases

Commands can be given at any time and he will disengage from whatever he is doing to comply.

Recall:

Excellent. Loki will immediately return when his name is called or when he hears a whistle—regardless of distance or distraction.

Leash Skills:

- Walks calmly at handler's hip
- No lunging or barking at other dogs
- Focused and composed on walks

Handling & Resource Guarding:

- No food or toy guarding
- Comfortable having food or toys removed
- Highly obedient and respectful with trusted handlers

 Lifestyle & Environment

- Loves hiking, walks, swimming, training, toys, balls, physical play, cuddles and hanging out!

- Excellent in car rides
- Non-reactive to loud noises (including fireworks)
- Loves to go out in public places and acts like a gentleman
- Thrives with structure, consistency, continued training and leadership

Loki is best suited for a confident handler familiar with working-line or big dog breeds.

Social History

- Raised with a senior dog and coexisted peacefully
- Did well with other dogs during puppy school and obedience school
- Has been boarded with no issue
- Has not been exposed to cats or small animals

Children:

- Has not had experience around young children

Important Behavioral Notes (Transparency)

Loki requires an adjustment period with new people. He does not like to be touched immediately before trust is established.

- At age 2 there was a nip incident involving a friend (stranger to him) who entered the home unannounced and let themselves in through the gate. Upon walking in they immediately put hands on him to which Loki nipped toward their hand to back them up. The nip did not break skin.
- At age 2, Loki lunged toward a swingset when a family friend was playing and excitedly screamed. He believed they were in danger; he made contact with the leg during the motion resulting in 4 stitches.
- He can get excited with sudden movements and motions: Vacuum, leaf blower, and squirrels but responds when commanded to stop
- He has never bitten a family member in the household

- With bonded individuals, Loki is completely comfortable being handled, including hands in his mouth, touching paws, face, and body without any aggression

These incidents were situational and startle-based rather than signs of generalized aggression. Loki requires a confident, experienced handler who understands protective dogs and is committed to ongoing training, structure, and management. He does best when his space is respected initially and when introductions are handled thoughtfully. He is not suitable for a home unwilling to acknowledge or manage this risk.

Ideal Home

Loki would thrive in:

- A home with breed experience (German Shepherds / working dogs preferred)
- An active lifestyle and/or time dedicated to training and engagement
- Someone patient who is looking for a best friend and companion

He is not a “hands-off” or casual pet—he is a working partner, deeply loyal and emotionally intelligent and looking to please.

Final Note

Loki’s purpose is to please. He is an exceptional listener, endlessly devoted, loves strongly and affectionately and always ready to learn more. With the right person, he will be a once-in-a-lifetime, loyal and loving dog.
